HUSTONVILLE.

Allen Huna, of Louisville, is visiting his old neighbors and friends here this week.

Dr. Lafayette Sproul, who lived near here and practiced medicine 15 years ago, died recently in Williamsburg, aged about 70.

Will Cabell arrived Sunday from Chattanooga, having been notified of the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Frances Cabell.

Hudson Bohon left Sunday for Mt. Auburn, Ill., and Horace Bohon left for London in the interest of the Kentucky Wagon Company.

Some of our farmers are great economists. This is shown by their selling what they can not eat, and eating what they can not sell.

Howard Cannitz left Sunday for West Baden, Ind., where the Pittsburg Nationals spend 10 days before going to Hot Springs for a two-weeks' stay.

The numerous friends in Kentucky of George L. Carpenter will be glad to learn of the rapid improvement in his health since his arrival at Hendersonville, N. C.

Entries to the combination horse sale here on the 24th, 25th and 26th are coming in so rapidly that the secretary has had to employ an assistant to keep up the entries and assist in other clerical work.

Joe Garrison, of Dunnville, died on the 25th, of the white plague, aged 47. He was the father of Fred Garrison, who was killed on the Rolling Fork a few months ago by his uncle, Hugh Thompson.

Two large sides of bacon disappeared from the smoke house of W. P. Carson. The bloodhounds having gone to Pine Knott the thief was not caught, but in the future one of the best dogs will be left at home.

James J. Drye, who was a resident of the West End for many years, and who had many friends and relatives in this locality, died in Caldwell, Kas., last week, aged 82. He spent most of his life around here.

The Peavyhouse Tobacco Co. has bought a lot of 100 feet front on Danville Avenue, by 600 feet back, upon which they are preparing to build a large tobacco warehouse and dwelling. Work on the warehouse will be completed by June 1st and the dwelling later on.

Lair and his bloodhounds were called to Pine Knott Thursday, where a store had been robbed. All parties having been kept away from the scene, a good scent was taken and the trail followed 27 miles to a depot, where the culprit had been seen to get on a freight train going South. A good description of the thief, who was seen riding between two oil tank cars, was sent South with the hope of catching him.

Moreland, one of our suburban villages, has taken on a second growth in the last few months and is forging ahead of its town sister—Milledgeville. A new hotel building by Abe Minks, late of Laurel county, has been erected and it would be an ornament to any country town. A State bank has been organized and ground broken for a brick office. Its capital stock will be $15,000 and it will be officered by B. B. King, president; Dr. Pipes, vice president; Mr. Wilhoit, of Owen county, cashier and general manager.

On Thursday afternoon the Ladies' Missionary Society met with Mrs. Crit Riffe. Mrs. Riffe was leader and had a fine program which was highly enjoyed by those who met to do honor to the district manager, Miss Sallie Elkin, who gave a helpful, inspiring talk. All hearts were rejoiced to receive seven new members. After adjournment Mrs. Riffe served refreshments in the true Kentucky hospitable style and her efforts were fully appreciated. The next meeting will be on April 1 at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Emmett McCormack, to which all members are cordially invited. Miss Elkin went from here to Somerset, carrying with her the best wishes of all.

At last Danville seems to be rising from her Rip VanWinkle slumber and is accepting the mantle which Providence, prosperity and progress have placed at her disposal. It is easily within her grasp to treble her population and business in a short time, provided she wants it and will take the first steps necessary to secure it. Build an interurban line from Danville to Stanford, thence to this place and on to Little Britain via Moreland, Milledgeville, Junction City or Shelby City. The right of way can be easily secured and at a reasonable cost. Cumberland Falls will soon be harnessed by an Eastern Company for electrical purposes and it would be a big subscriber to Danville stock for this enterprise to furnish the power. The Southern line then of Lexington's business would be the Kentucky river, while Danville's with the proper push would reach Chattanooga and would be the metropolis of a territory whose tributaries reach beyond the confines of Kentucky.

A rare bargain in a 275-acre farm, 172 acres of which is fine corn and tobacco river bottom land. The balance is good grass land with splendid improvements, good neighborhood, on rural route. Price $8,000; terms reasonable. Address River Bottom, box 82, Hustonville, Ky.

Work on the foot bridges washed out by the late high tide, has begun and it will not be long until we can go to see our neighbor, Yosemite.

A warrant for the arrest of one Orville Carman, was sworn out Tuesday charging him with using abusive language to Cornelius Floyd and W. T. Campbell. The parties live in the Walltown section.

Steuben Godby was down from Hustonville Sunday. James Winkle has moved to High Bridge. L. W. McWhorter, of Lincoln county, attended court at Liberty. Mrs. Helen Carter is in Louisville buying Spring millinery. Mrs. H. C. Estes is quite sick.

The Baptist people here will dispense with chandeliers in the church and install a gasoline plant for lighting the church. The chandeliers have never given satisfaction and besides gasoline is cheaper. R. B. Young, Dr. C. B. Creech and Miss Mary Bryant have the matter in hand and will take subscriptions from members of the church.

March 28th will be Missionary Day at the Baptist church here. The Sunday school will have a missionary lesson and Rev. J. L. Owens will preach on the subject of "Missions." Preparations along the line of missions are being made by the officers and teachers of the Sunday school and it is the purpose of all to have a general mission rally.

Mrs. Belle Hall, wife of Albert Hall, died Friday after a short illness. Rev. J. Q. Montgomery conducted the funeral services at the Christian church at Yosemite, after which the remains were brought here and interred. Mrs. Hall was 59 years old, was the mother of eight children, all of whom are living, and they with their father are left to mourn the loss of a loving mother and devoted wife.

Bivin are moving to Sadieville, where Mr. Harris will engage in the marble business. We regret very much giving them up, but hope it will be profitable to them.

Squire Dudderard held court here a few days ago. Not much business of importance was transacted. One misdemeanor trial, G. W. Koger against Dock Burton, colored, for drawing a gun on Koger. The case was unique in some respects. The squire had to be sworn and used as a witness and the attorney for the defense was Mr. Florence. He was the only one who could administer the oath and he refused to do so until Mr. Burch persuaded him.

C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance.
